

Elevating Consulting Proficiency Through Targeted Training

How Arthur D. Little leveraged Kubicle to standardize skills and enhance global workforce productivity.

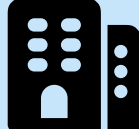

The Challenge

Arthur D. Little faced significant challenges aligning its globally dispersed workforce on essential technological skills, particularly in Microsoft Excel for analytical tasks. The firm needed a flexible training solution that could cater to the distinct needs of its business analysts, consultants, and managers. Traditional e-learning methods were falling short, marked by generic content and low engagement, which failed to adequately close the skill gaps within the organization.

Arthur D. Little Background

Founded in 1886, Arthur D. Little is a distinguished strategy and management consulting firm with over 1,000 employees across 40 international offices. Renowned for integrating strategy, technology, and innovation in management, the firm focuses on delivering sophisticated, actionable solutions to its clients.

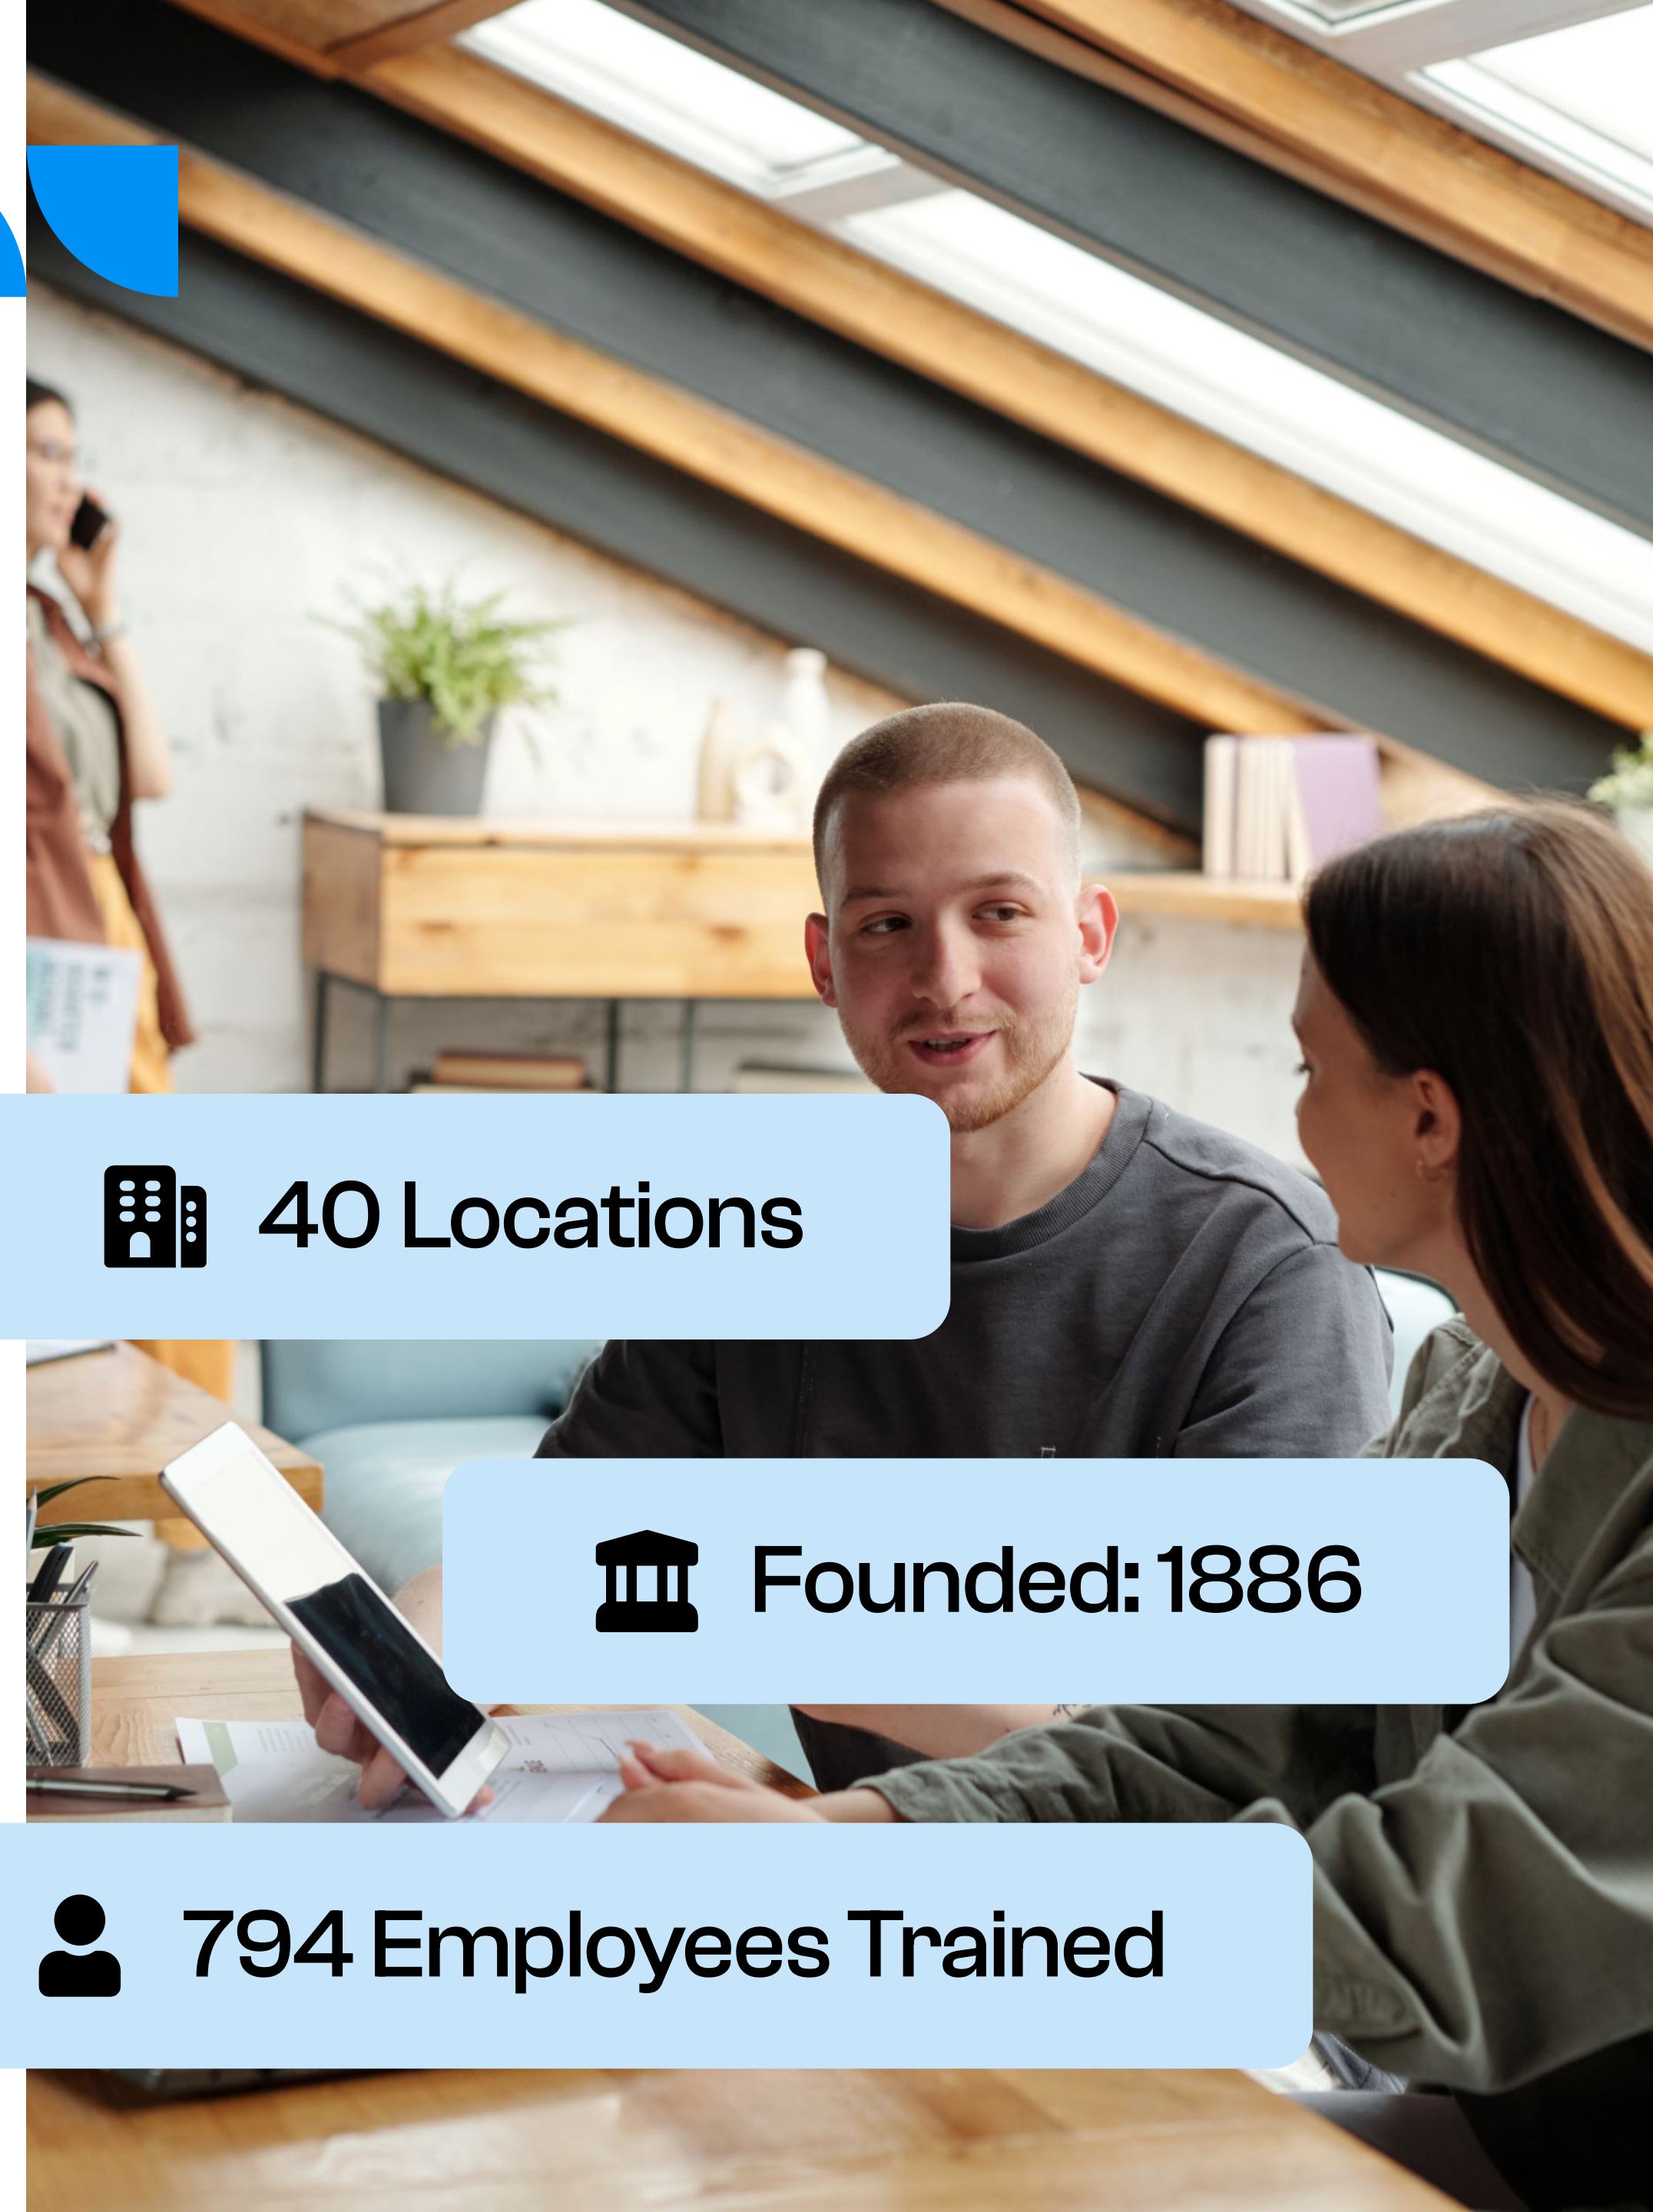

40 Locations

Founded: 1886

794 Employees Trained

The Solution

Arthur D. Little adopted Kubicle's tailored training platform after other e-learning solutions failed to meet their specific needs. Kubicle differentiated itself with its ability to customize learning experiences for diverse roles within the consulting industry, from junior analysts to senior managers. This targeted approach was crucial for addressing varied skills gaps across the firm.

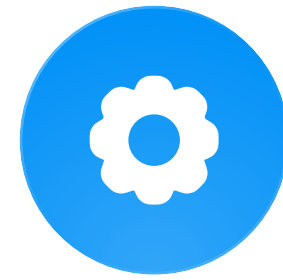

To facilitate a successful implementation, Kubicle assigned a dedicated Customer Success Manager to Arthur D. Little. This manager was instrumental in setting up the platform, monitoring learner progress, and continuously refining the training strategy based on detailed feedback and analytics. The inclusion of interactive exercises, real-world applications, and ongoing content updates allowed Arthur D. Little to effectively transform downtime into productive learning opportunities, enhancing skills and standardizing knowledge across its global operations.

“The level of mastery of xls and financial modelling has improved significantly”

Ben Thuriaux-Alemán, Principal, Arthur D Little

3 Key Benefits of Kubicle

Customized Learning Plans.

Tracking and Reporting Tools.

Responsive Support Team.

The Impact

The adoption of Kubicle's training platform transformed Arthur D. Little's approach to skills development, achieving over 3,700 course completions and training 794 employees to a higher standard of proficiency in analytics and modeling.

An internal review revealed that 85% of employees found the training crucial for their professional development. This strategic enhancement of skills has led to a workforce that can delve deeper into complex client issues, thereby adding greater value and advancing the firm's reputation as a leader in innovative consulting solutions.

Learn How We Can Help Your Organization

Contact Kubicle

“We no longer get basic questions on analytics - everyone knows the material that’s on Kubicle. People are now empowered to ask deeper questions that provide further value for clients.”

Ben Thuriaux-Alemán,
Principal,
Arthur D Little