

Building Consistency in Organizational Data Skills

Learn how Onafriq partnered with Kubicle to fill the skill gaps in their global finance teams and build confidence in their data proficiency.

The Challenge

Onafriq's globally dispersed finance team are required to work with large volumes of data every day. Therefore, it is critical to the business that every member of their team has a high level of data proficiency. They are required to read, analyze, and use data ethically to help the organization solve challenges, drive innovation, and create value.

With a team of 80 employees dispersed across the globe, maintaining and promoting a uniform level of data proficiency has proven to be a challenge.

Onafriq Background

Onafriq is a pan-African payments company with a strong regional presence in 10 offices in Africa, and others in the UK, US, and China. The organization enables disbursements, collections, card processing, agency services and offers treasury services. They boast a multi-cultural, multi-talented, agile team from over 30 different nations on a mission to make borders matter less for millions of Africans and African businesses.

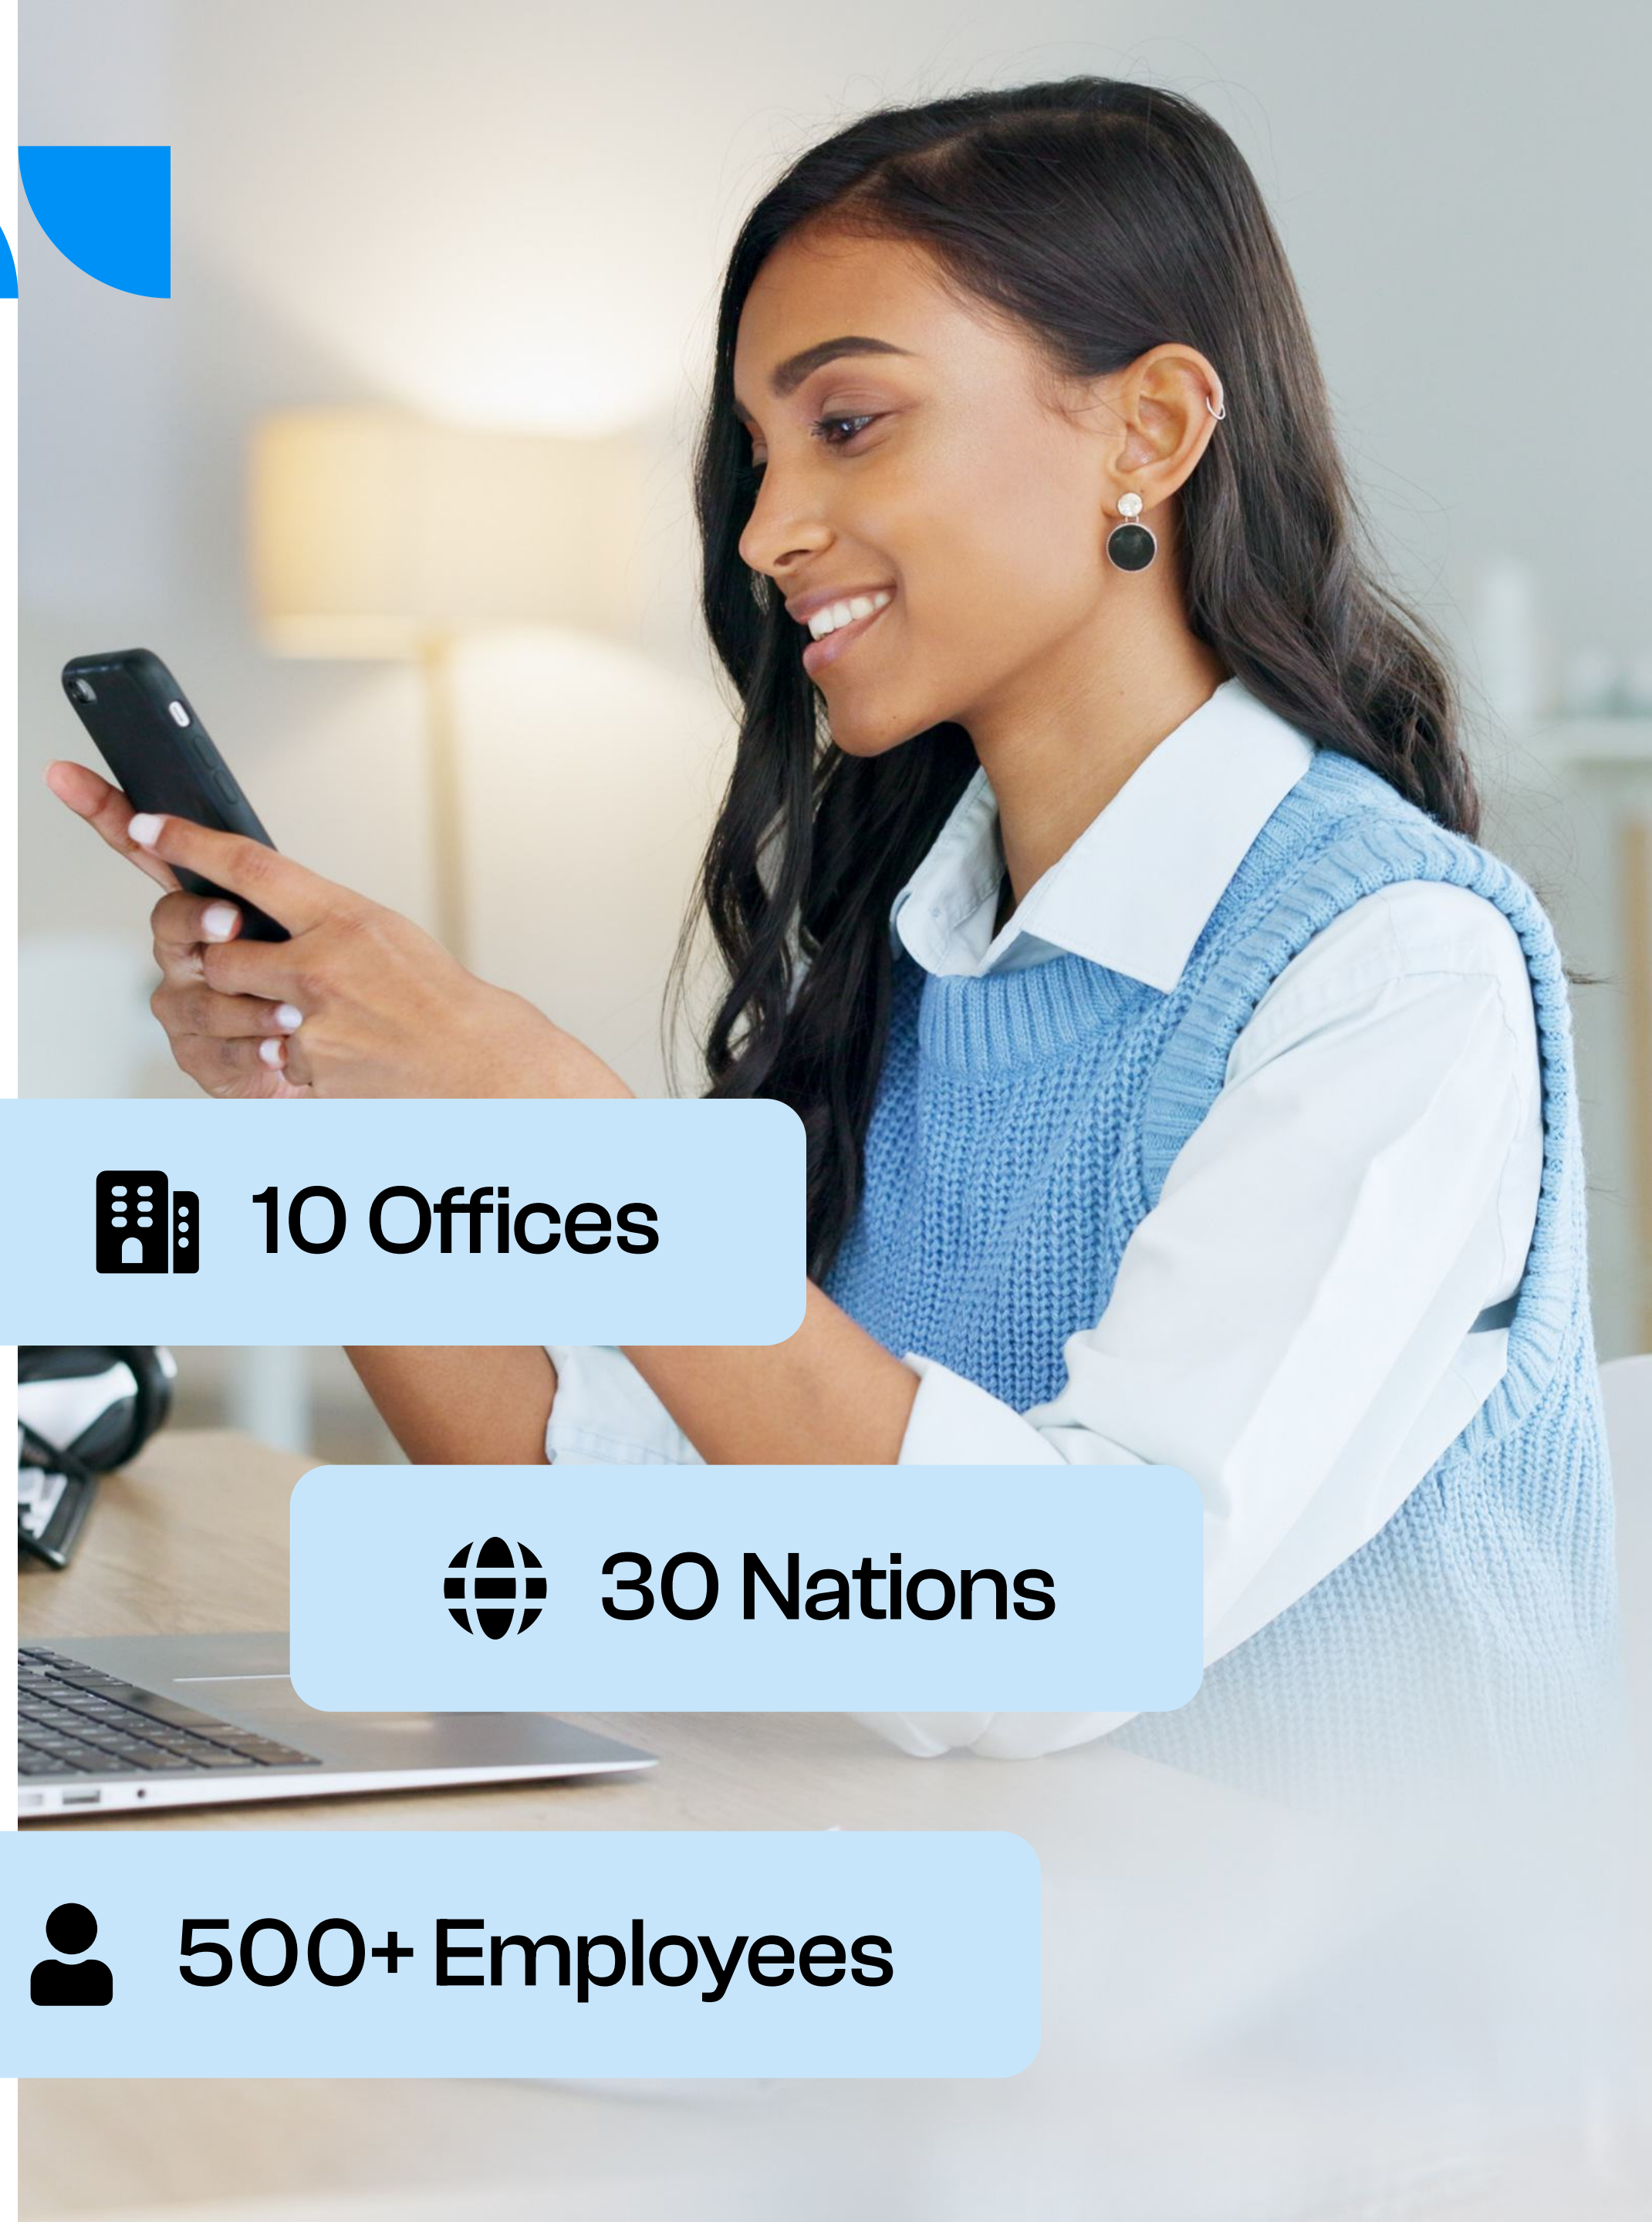

10 Offices

30 Nations

500+ Employees

The Solution

At the beginning of the project to upskill their team, Onafriq identified that they would need a solution that catered to their global team. They identified the key skill areas that were vital for their team's performance. These included critical skills like Excel, Financial Modelling, Data Visualization, and Data Presentation. They also noted that they would need to cater to the different levels of experience and expertise within their team.

After a period of research and consultation, they found Kubicle to be the learning solution that would be the most effective in meeting their requirements. Kubicle's high-quality and up-to-date content library covered all the areas they were looking for in-depth, with courses for all levels of proficiency. Their platform also allowed for a seamless rollout of the training to their global team and provided the means to keep track of learner engagement and skill growth.

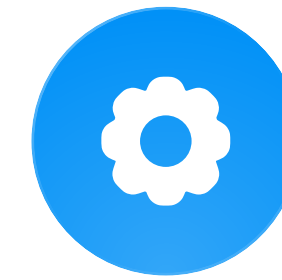

“An added benefit is that Kubicle is CPE, CPD and NASBA accredited, so our employees can be rewarded by industry-recognized training as they progress with their learnings.”

Julian Adkins, Group Chief Financial Officer, Onafriq

Key Benefits of Kubicle to Onafriq

World-Class Content.

Customized Learning Plans.

Accredited Certifications.

The Impact

Before launch, Onafriq's team undertook an initial skills assessment through the Kubicle platform. This helped to identify the major skills gaps of the team and the main areas for individual development. Based on the results, individual customized learning paths and learning timelines were created for each employee.

With the right content matched to the right people, all that was left to do was ensure a high level of learning engagement. To achieve this, Kubicle's customer success team worked closely with Onafriq management to provide best practices for fostering a culture of learning. They also helped to build excitement amongst their team and highlight the personal benefits of completing their courses including industry-recognized qualifications.

This approach has led to a great improvement in data skills throughout the team. Within 6 months, Onafriq has noticed a significant transformation in the majority of learners which is impacting their overall performance and providing a return on investment already.

Learn How We Can Help Your Organization

Contact Kubicle

“There are many generic learning tools on the market, however, few provide the level of customization, bite-size content, and world-class content that Kubicle offers. This was the main differentiator.”

Julian Adkins,
Group Chief Financial Officer,
Onafriq